PROVINCE PAYS INTEREST

Holders of provincial savings certificates received their usual annual dividend in the shape of interest cheques during the past week, covering interest on demand certificates for the past year. A total of 7,149 cheques have been mailed out by the provincial treasury department, covering a total of $306,125.26 in interest payments.

Kcen interest has been shown by depositors in the new savings plan inaugurated by the treasury department last April, in making available certificates for deposits made for one, two or three years, to bear interest at 5 per cent. There has been a very gratifying response to this plan, many depositors taking advantage of it.

YARD OFFICE CLOSED

Further economy steps have been effected by the C.P.R. in the consolidation of the yard office work with the work of the ticket office in Macleod, and the position of yard master will be discontinued. V. E. Baker, present yard master, will be yard foreman, and the yard office staff will go to the ticket office with an increase of one member of the staff. One switchman will be laid off as a result of the change.—Macleod Gazette.

CHRISTENED IN 1876

The old windjammer, "Indiana," which was seceded by Columbia to represent the clipper, "Golden Bough," in "Shanghaied Love," was christened in 1876. Since that time, under various masters, she has made a number of voyages completely around the world, has been attacked by pirates in the China Sea, and for a time was in the slave trade running in African waters. Her history forms an adventurous background for the locale of this great sea romance by Norma Springer, featuring Richard Cromwell, Noah Beery and Sally Blane and showing at the Orpheum theatre, starting Monday.

WOODEN MONEY

Tenino, Wash., wishes it had issued some wooden nickels. They now would be worth 50 cents each. Collectors are paying $2.50 for the town's wooden 50-cent pieces issued by the chamber of commerce to Forestall Tenino's financial collapse when the only bank failed. Nobody seems to want to redeem the spruce "spondulicks" as the issues become due. Out of the approximately $7,200 issued since December 1931, only $45 was presented for redemption. Of the approximately $3,600 due for redemption December 30, alone, the chamber only had to redeem $35, and as the balance was voided, there was a profit of more than $3,500.

With this profit the chamber bought the building and fixtures of the defunct citizens bank and is now ready to install a branch bank as soon as the legislature will permit.

No man should be forced to choose between starving and stealing.

BLAIRMORE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The year just ended has proved a year of unqualified success for the library. The following figures will show how the library is gaining in popularity year after year. In 1929, the books circulated numbered 2489; in 1931, the circulation almost doubled, the number in that year being 4840, and in 1932 it still kept going ahead, the number circulated in the year just closed being 7882, more than three times that of 1930.

Membership fee is $1.00 per year, and for this small fee a member can have the use of twelve books per week, which means 624 books in a year. There are on the shelves for use by the members well over 3000 volumes. Any information regarding the library will be gladly given by the librarian any night the library is open.

Books being placed on the shelves this week are:

"The King," Wayland Wells Williams; "Great Detective Stories of the World," Joseph Lewis French; "The Perennial Bachelor," Anne Parrish; "A Woman, 49," Francis Walton; "The Tenderfoots," Francis Lynde; "Mrs. Clutterbuck Laughs," Guy Pocock; "Little Hearts," Marjorie L. C. Piekthall; "My Lady Les," Edith Ballinger Price.

The library hours are Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m., and Saturdays from 7 to 10 p.m. The fee is $1.00 per year for residents and $2.00 per year for non-residents.

KEEPING HIGHWAYS OPEN

More than 800 miles of main highway in Alberta are on the winter programme of road clearance of the provincial public works department this winter. That is, the department is making an endeavor to keep this amount of mileage on the main roads clear of snow and passable at all times. In addition to this, a considerable mileage has been protected with snow fencing. This is the largest mileage the government has yet placed on the winter road clearing programme and brings Alberta into second position among the provinces of the Dominion in this respect, being surpassed only by Ontario. The snow problem is, however, not generally a serious one in Alberta, as it is in some of the eastern provinces, but occasionally in the winter comes a snowfall that demands considerable effort before the roads are cleared for traffic.

To win success be brief politely, be aggressive tactfully, be emphatically pleasantly, be positive diplomatically, be right graciously.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Following a three months' adjournment the joint committee which is investigating the administration of the Pension Act reassembled in Ottawa.

W. Martin Griffin, K.C., Vancouver, has been retained by the Dominion government to revise the Canada Shipping Act. He has gone to Ottawa to undertake the work.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, noted British explorer, said he planned to leave the United States in April for Norway to join the Ellsworth-Balchen expedition to the Antarctic.

Amendments to the Canada Shipping Act are being drafted. The legislation will be brought down this session. The measure was let stand over from the previous session.

Charles Wong, first Chinese to receive a private aeroplane pilot's license, is leaving Winnipeg for China where he will join the Chinese government air force.

Sailing alone in an 18-foot skiff, Fred Rebel, Australia's "height of folly" navigator, put in at San Pedro, California, January 9, after a year-long 8,000-mile voyage from Sydney.

Canadian water colors will be exhibited in at least 12 of the largest cities in Great Britain in the next year and a half, officials of the National Gallery stated in Ottawa.

Julius Montagu Williams, scientist, lecturer, picturesque missionary of another day among the Indians of Northern Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan, died suddenly in Toronto in his 70th year.

International debts may be used by the United States to reduce trade barriers against the products of that country, according to the opinion expressed by Premier Braden during an interview at Winnipeg.

Prof. John H. Williams, one of the American delegates to the preparatory committee for the world monetary and economic conference, told the committee that he believed high protective tariff sentiment in the United States is fading.

Unemployed in Germany
Are Becoming Apathetic

Many Have Completely Given Up Thought Of Working

A press despatch from Berlin, says the moral effects of prolonged unemployment are being studied by sociologists, who note a strong tendency among the unemployed to accept their situation as a normal one and to abandon completely any thought of returning to work.

Men who had always had jobs in the past spend the first few weeks or months of their unemployment looking for work. They go from one office or factory to another, filling out application forms, but after repeatedly being turned down they give up looking for work altogether and even refuse to take any interest in rumors or reports that jobs are vacant.

Numerous cases have been reported in which unemployed men have taken to their beds, having so far sunk into apathy that they lack the energy to get up. Still others spend their days sitting in a chair, vacantly gazing into space. Hundreds of thousands of men throughout Germany, it is declared, have totally abandoned any idea of ever working again.

That many others, however, have not become wholly apathetic is attested by library statistics. The free libraries of Berlin are besieged by unemployed men. In one working class quarter the number of readers has more than tripled since the unemployment crisis began, and it is calculated that the increase in readers due to unemployment is between 60 and 70 per cent. in Berlin as a whole.

Another phase of the unemployed is bathing. Never have the open air bathing establishments in and near Berlin seen so many bathers.

"Smoking," says the Vossische Zeitung, "is the sole real luxury of the unemployed—at least of those who are able to buy anything to smoke. Many unemployed who pride themselves on their ability to withstand hunger declare that they are unable to give up cigarettes, saying that tobacco, for them, takes the place of eating, drinking and amusement."

Started at Small Way

Many will be surprised to learn that California's large navel orange industry had its inception in two small trees imported from Brazil and taken by stagecoach from Washington, D.C., sixty years ago. The story would seem to be the seedless wonder of "Big oaks from little acorns grow."

Flight Scheme Dropped

Professor Piccard Will Not Ascend From Hudson Bay District

Canada's Hudson Bay district will not see a flight to the stratosphere by Professor Auguste Piccard after all. The famous explorer of the upper regions is in New York where he starts a series of lectures.

The reason he will not make the Hudson Bay attempt himself, he explained, is because "The men who make the flight must be scientists familiar with the northern regions."

"The greatest difficulties of that attempt would be landing in that remote region and transporting the materials and equipment," he said. "A system of signals for guiding the pilot from the ground by wireless must be used."

First of all, Professor Piccard said, it would be necessary to find a man, "with a big pocketbook," who also had a genuine, intelligent interest in scientific matters, to finance the expedition.

Tribute To Queen Mary

Good Example As Housewife Opinion Of Her Treasurer

Queen Mary is "too good a housewife" in the opinion of Sir Edward Wallington, who at the age of 73 years, has just retired from the post of Treasurer to the Queen.

"I have paid all the Queen's private bills since my appointment 13 years ago," says Sir Edward, "and not once had I to query her accounts. She is an example to the housewives of Britain for wise shopping, careful spending and discriminating choice."

A SLENDERIZING STYLE YOU'LL LIKE

Its smart tailored lines meet every-day requirements. Almost any of the soft new wools are lovely for this model—a very becoming style for the normal or slightly over-normal figure.

You'll notice that since the center of the cross-over bodice is cut in a panel effect and left bellies, it combines with the skirt panel to add height to the figure.

Rough crepe silk would be equally suited to this model.

Style No. 313 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust.

The original was in the popular rust tone in a diagonal woven weave. White pipe was used for the inset vest.

More Employed in England

Activity in Several Lines Of Work Shows Increase

Employment is improving in England. The number of registered unemployed decreased by 76,519 between November 11 and December 19. The increase is credited to the usual seasonal improvement but in several lines of work activity has increased.

More employment is reported in coal-mining, iron, and steel industries, general engineering, cotton and jute trades, tailoring, bleaching and dyeing, finishing works, distributive trades and hotel and boarding house services.

Less employment is reported in building jobs, public works contracting, pottery, boot and shoe industries, hosiery manufacturers and the woolen and worsted industry.

Just Like Columbus

Business World All At Sea About Its Position

One of the best stories going around Washington now is Owen D. Young's description in a recent directors' meeting of how the business world is acting in the depression.

"It strikes me," he said, "that we're all in the same boat with Christopher Columbus. He didn't know where he was going when he started. When he got there he didn't know where he was. And when he got back he didn't know where he had been."

The Coldest Temperature

The coldest natural temperature known about this little planet, says Dr. Beno Gutenberg, geophysicist, is just about 10 miles above the equator. At that point the temperature has been measured at 150 degrees below zero. Fahrenheit.

Royal Command Has Lasted

Queen Victoria Set Height Limit For London Buildings

A Queen's wish has kept the London "sky line" close to the ground. The story of that wish, by which no London building is to be built higher than 50 feet to the top of the parapet, with two stories in addition, has been laid before the Royal Society of Arts.

It was told by Maurice E. Webb, architect, who said that Queen Victoria, gazing out of her window in Buckingham Palace one day, was struck with the height of Queen Anne's Mansions.

This building, still one of London's highest, towered above Westminster's smaller dwellings. She sent for her minister, and he insisted on a height limit being included in the building act. The royal command has lasted through the years.

No Mishaps in Air

Vancouver's Sea Island Service Had No Accidents in 1932

Vancouver's sea island airport carried on its activities during 1932 without a single accident, according to the report of Manager William Templeton, to the civic airport committee. Passenger flights for the year numbered 707; test flights, 40; student instruction flights, 754; student solo flights, 1,859; arrivals, 309; departures, 310; visiting aircraft, 134, and passengers carried 2,652.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

BAKED APPLE WITH ORANGE

(Serves 6.)

6 baking apples.
Seedless raisins.
¾ cup orange juice.
2 tablespoons sugar.
Orange slices.
Sugar.
Water.
Quick cooking tapioca.

Core apples, leaving cavity at stem end. Stuff cavities with raisins. Add sugar to orange juice and fill any remaining space in cavities with this. Cover cavities each with orange slice dipping in sugar. Add enough water to remaining sugar and orange juice mixture to fill pan half-way. Add 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca to each cup water used, putting bits of orange slices also between apples in pan. Bake until apples are tender. The orange makes a very pretty garnish for the apples and adds a delightful flavor.

Lemon slices and lemon juice may be used in place of orange, in which case more sugar will be needed.

BAKED SALMON AND SWEET POTATOES

Bake 6 medium sized sweet potatoes. Mash, season with salt, pepper and butter. Add ½ cup of finely flaked canned salmon. Mix all together. Place in buttered baking dish, spread top with melted butter, garnish with ¼ can salmon in large pieces. Heat 5 or 6 minutes and serve.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 23

JESUS FORGIVING SIN

Golden Text: "The Son of Man hath authority on earth to forgive sins."—Mark 2:10.

Lesson: Mark 2:1-12.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 32:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Is Criticized For His Words To a Paralytic, verses 1-12.—On one of Jesus' visits to Capernaum, his headquarters, it became known that He was in the house and the people hurried thither in great excitement. They crowded into the room, jammed the door leading to the street, and hung around in crowds outside. Four men, who had heard of Jesus' wonderful deeds of healing, determined to bring to Him a friend who was paralyzed, but when they approached the house carrying the paralytic on a light pallet no one would make way for them.

The hearers of Christ were so anxious to get every word that fell from His lips that they shoved the invalid out of the way in order that they might hear the better. The picture is typical of the multitudes who seek for ourselves the highest advantages of Christian worship, to pay heavily for costliest architecture and religious luxuries, but the spectacle of a church paying ten dollars for itself where it pays ten for aggressive outside work is calculated to call to mind the Gospel scene where every man's very eagerness to hear eclipsed in him the real spirit of Christian unselfishness.—Francis J. McConnell.

The four men were persevering and resourceful and undiscouraged. They carried their burden up the outer stairway to the roof, removed the covering and made a hole large enough to let the man down on his hands and feet of the Great Physician.

The four friends brought the paralytic to Jesus for bodily healing. Jesus began to reward them by forgiving the man's sins. Seeing their faith, we are told, Jesus said to the man, "Son, thy sins are forgiven." Jesus "knew what was in man," Mark 2:25, and knew that the man needed spiritual healing as well as physical help. "See what the faith of others may do for one!" exclaims an ancient writer.

Jesus distinctly recognized the faith of the bearers as well as that of the sufferer. From his home, he mainly speaking, the palsied man owed his recovery and salvation to the faith and self-sacrifice of his four friends. The great lesson comes here that to an unknown extent it is possible to inspire and to bring about the salvation of others by our faith and co-operation. Our faith cannot supersede theirs. It is never a substitute for the faith of those more immediately concerned; but it prompts and strengthens their faith.—W. L. Walkington.

A Quick-Witted Guide

Showed In Clever Way He Knew King of Belgium

A new story is told about King Albert of Belgium. He is a notably modest monarch, and often travels incognito. One of his hobbies is Alpine climbing. He sometimes sets out with a simple rucksack firmly convinced that nobody recognizes him, and calling himself "Mont Durand," a name as common in Belgium as Smith in England. On a recent mountain trip the King took with him a guide who showed no sign of recognizing him. He was climbing in the neighborhood of a peak which in his honor has been named Mount Albert. Stopping for a rest on his way the King questioned the guide about the names of the various mountains, and finally to put his incognito to the test, pointed to his own mountain. "And that," he said, "is Mount Albert, isn't it?" "Non, Monsieur," answered the guide, "that's Mount Durand."

Ski Jumpers Buy Snow

Hills Club Ordered Six Car Loads

It may not have showed in sufficient quantities for ski jumping, but the Norge Ski Club had snow for its annual tournament at Gary, Ill., on January 15.

After canvassing the region, club officials learned that there was plenty of snow about 400 miles north of Chicago, up in Wisconsin, and placed an order for six freight car loads.

A Matter Of Taste

When meeting married men, Sam-I-am, you'll understand a good many things as you don't understand now, but whether it's worth while going through so much to learn so little, as the charity-boy said when he got to the end of the alphabet, is a matter of taste. I rather think 't isn't.—Charles Dickens.

Nose rings, like those worn by African slaves are said to be the fashion in Paris.

"Canada 1933"

Official Handbook Dealing With Present Conditions Is Now Available

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics announces the publication of the 1933 edition of the official annual handbook dealing with present conditions and recent progress in the Dominion.

The publication opens with a foreword by the Hon. H. H. Stevens; an abstract of eight pages outlines the world situation as it affects Canada. Material dealing with topography and climate and constitution and government has been omitted in this edition in order to make way for a fairly broad treatment of the Imperial Economic Conference, which appears as Chapter I. Detailed treatment of all phases of national endeavor including Population, Wealth and Production, Agriculture, Forestry, Mining, Water Powers, Fisheries, Fur Trade, Manufactures, Transportation, Trade, Finance, Labour, Education, etc., follow.

The book is designed to give a concise but well-rounded picture of the current Canadian situation to those at home and abroad, and to provide a better basis of information for the discussion of Canadian affairs generally and in particular for dealing with the business problems of 1933. It is profusely illustrated and printed in tone to harmonize with the aesthetic character of the work.

Throughout the handbook the latest available information is included in each section, the figures in many cases extending to the end of 1932. Applications for copies of the handbook should be addressed to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

French Note Notes

Think Habit Of Sending Christmas Cards Is Too Expensive

Don Bradman, a former Canadian student in Paris, writes: "The expensive habit of Christmas cards, you may be sure has not yet taken firm hold among the thrifty French. They send personal greetings, that's certainly enough, but rather by the direct, intimate and fatiguing path of writing Christmas notes. The week preceding the holiday, hence, becomes a period of care and tribulation to anyone overly beset with many friends—to seek must go a short note of sentiment, each note similar to the other, each with its odd scrap of news and its best wishes for the coming year. Ten, perhaps 30 or 40 letters, carefully penned in longhand go forth in the mail, while the sender waits eagerly day by day to see whether he or she too is going to be remembered in like fashion."

Danger Of Inflation

System Is Hard To Control When Once Started

Another obsession of inflation is Dr. B. K. Sandwell, Toronto economist. He thinks it would be a good thing for Canada to inflate her currency and debate her dollar. He also urges that any inflation be controlled to prevent a repetition of what happened in Germany, where inflation brought a situation where $125,000,000 was needed to buy a loaf of bread. But Dr. Sandwell does not say who is going to decide where inflation is to stop. Once started, the business of printing paper money is hard to curb. That's where all advocates of controlled inflation leave us in the air. They do not say who will control or how it will be controlled.—Border Cities Star.

An Artificial Heart

Device Has Been Developed and Tested By Moscow Surgeons

An artificial heart has been developed by Moscow surgeons, which, when perfected, is expected to revolutionize methods of operating on the heart. It is a device for pumping the blood through the arteries like a real heart. The heart of a living dog was taken right out of its body and operated on while the "artificial heart" kept the body alive. Sixteen slitches were taken in the heart and then it was put back into the body. The dog has survived.

The science of fighting fire has become so specialized that the fire departments of large cities are organizing fire colleges to train their men.

+ Do You Know? +

Photograph, Canadian Natural, Railway

THAT the tamest bird in the woods is the Canada Jay? It is sometimes called the "Whiskey Jack" and is nearly always to be found around logging grounds or deserted lumber camps. This latter fact may account for a superstition among many old lumber jacks in northern Canada that the Canada Jay is the soul of lumber men who died or were killed during the logging drives. The photograph shows a Canada Jay brazenly helping himself from a camper's frying pan.

Alan's estimate that his quarry could not be more than half a mile in the lead, was true enough; but a stern chase is a long chase, and if those bandits were aching from exhaustion, they had the fear of death in their hearts to goad them on.

A whole hour, an hour of terrible labor, sweat, and still no sight or sound of the bandits. With the responsibility of this patrol on him, with human lives, the lives of comrades, at stake, a fear gripped Alan that those bandits had taken the south branch of the Alaska. If they had, Frank Pedneault and those two new recruits might run into an ambush; or Fed might attack them, reckless feeling that he was, practically lone-handed, and get killed.

The chase was entering the Thal-Azzah itself, that watery wilderness of fakes and labyrinthine channels and making thousands of square miles in extent. Not far ahead the branch split into a dozen channels leading in every direction. Pursuit would end there. A few miles more, and those canoes would be swallowed up in the watery oblivion of the Thal-Azzah.

But then, as he skirted around a headland, his prophesy yesterday to Haskell, and his conviction, founded on long man-hunting experience, that those bandits would surely follow this left branch, were suddenly proved true to the letter. On ahead, a scant thousand yards, he caught one fleeting glimpse of two heavily laden canoes that carried six men.

Dipping faster, deeper, he and Bill and Larry paddled at a furious pace to come up within rifle range. The river was so winding that they could see only a few hundred yards in front. There was danger, a terrible danger, of running headlong into a blind ambush where all three of them would be killed outright and their canoes sunk before they even could start to shoot back. Every stroke, every curve, every clump of flags they skimmed close past, was a deadly peril. They knew it, but they dared not stop. They were taking their chances.

As they skirted out upon a shallow little lake fringed about with tall flags, Larry suddenly heaved back and his paddle.

"Lift up! Look! Alan, look over there!"

Alan looked where he pointed, at the north shore, at the wall of dense reeds. A path had been broken through the flags there; the reeds were parted, some of them trampled, their tops bent to either side.

It told the story to him. Had pressed, these men had whipped ashore to shake off pursuit; had lifted canoes to shoulder, and were trying to cut north and hit another channel. Oblivious to ambush danger, they skinned over to the telltale break in the flags and dived out upon the mud. Alan and Bill along the canoe upon their shoulders; and with Larry in the lead, following the signs, they started at a lopsided back through the flags.

Within a few hundred yards they came to a little creek, a sluggish muskrat highway that led north. The bandits had taken to it. Too shallow for a canoe, they had had to wade. So recently had they passed, the water was still rolled from their boots.

The little creek took Alan's party a thousand yards north to a lake, a deep blue lake covering several acres; and there, within the Thal-Azzah itself, late in the afternoon, the long relentless chase came to its end.

Larry, a dozen steps in the lead, glimpsed the silvery sheen of water ahead; and stopping dead-short, motioned Bill and Larry to be cautious. They belted forward toward the lake edge where the flags were thin and they had clear view.

"After several minutes of waiting, Larry pointed across the lake and stated quietly:

"You see that big patch of brownish flags over there, about thirty or forty yards back from the water? See that little run leading back into them? That's where our men are hiding. They're laying low along that little run. I just noticed a rat start up that run. He came back in a hurry. Then, there's a silent spot over there where I don't hear any bird or animal calls. And then some other signs..."

He was silent for half a minute, then he came on; but just as they were about to show you a sign, you see that pair of canvas-backs coming this way? They're flying low, making for the lake. Canvas-backs like blue water. Watch 'em close."

Skimming just over the flags, the pair of graceful ducks came on; but just as they were about to show you a sign, you see that pair of canvas-backs coming this way? They're flying low, making for the lake. Canvas-backs like blue water. Watch 'em close."

Alan studied the bandit covert and tried to plan. If all five of his men had been along with him, the outcome would have been swift and certain. He could have come at the bandits from either side, cut off any chance of escape, boxed them between two fires and deliberately shot them down. But he had split his party at the Alaska Forks, as Haskell ordered. Now, at the crucial hour here in the Thal-Azzah, Pedneault and those other two men, using the knowledge that south branch, were a hundred and forty miles away.

He planned, rejected and planned again, and finally came to a decision. "We've got to carry the fight to them, and we've got to keep them from getting away by this creek yonder. There's only one way we can do both those things. Bill and I are going to circle around them on foot and come at them from the other side. We'll get there somehow, even if we have to swim part way. With any luck at all we ought to get to a position where we can put two or three of them out of business at the very beginning, before they wake up to us. They won't fight if they can help it. Why should they take chances on some of them getting wounded or killed, if they don't have to? They'll try to whip back across this lake and dodge into that channel yonder. Now, Larry, you'll stay here to head that off. Keep out of sight yourself; have a couple or three extra magazines handy, and wait till they get into the middle. When they get in good range, open up on them. Sink those canoes. We don't care about those men. Let them swim ashore and hide if they want to. On foot a man can't make ten miles a week in this muskrat country. With no tent, no shelter, the mosquitoes and flies would drive them crazy in less than a day, and they'd fall into our hands. If you understand now what's cut out for us, we'll be starting."

Both men nodded. Bill and Alan backed away with infinite caution, for one flushing waterfowl would raise all the others. Yard by cautious yard the two men slipped back into the rushes till they were a safe distance from the lake.

Then they began the long hard job of circling around the bandits. Wet, muddy, tortured by insect pests, they pushed steadily on, mindful of coming twilight.

It took an hour and a half to make the wide careful circle and start coming in toward the bandits from the north. With the sun cut in two by the western horizon and the chill of twilight in the air, those six men would shortly be on the move. But Alan's hopes had risen again; it seemed that he indeed "had taken his luck along." The bandits did not know they were being stalked. In an hour more, if luck held, he and Bill would be in position to open on them all unawares.

Dropping at last to hands and knees, the two of them crawled along through muck and water, keeping only their gums dry. They came up within a hundred yards of their quarry.

As he parted the reeds in front of his face Alan saw the tops of a clump away suspiciously. A moment later he glimpsed the dim outline of a man standing up, stretching himself, sitting down again.

In actual sight now, those men who had killed Jimmy Montgomery! And only a pistol shot away! But to take them...

Alan cursed savagely at the thought of Pedneault and those two men a hundred and forty miles distant. As he remembered what Haskell said about the Law being behind his patrol, his lips curled in scorn at the calm expression...

"The Law that's supposed to be back of us, I wonder where in h— it is now! What does it mean to Bill and me now?" Here in this watery wilderness in the creeping twilight, he and Bill were going up against six men who had stood off fifty and who had murdered charges hanging over their heads. And if they broke away, Larry single-handed would have to stand the whole brunt of stopping them.

They Came Up Within a Hundred Yards of Their Quarry

At his gesture Bill said cautiously up beside him. In whispers, Alan said to him: "Bill, we've got to get closer. We've got to get across this pond. Those muskrat houses out there are particularly good luck for us. By keeping down in the water, with these little reeds to help hide us, we can sneak from one house to the next. The last one isn't a dozen yards from those men. If we make it we'll have point-blank range and the best kind of cover to shoot from."

Taking off their hats and jackets, they wriggled carefully out of the tall flags, eased into the water and squirmed toward the first muskrat house, which stood up four feet above the surface and entirely hid their approach. Behind it they stopped a moment, those their next one, and sank back into the water.

As they crouched down behind the third little dome of mud and reeds, a towering red-bearded man parted the flags they were staring at, bent and scooped up a handful of water, took a swallow, threw the rest down with oath at its vile taste; and then, shaking the water out of his hat, he disappeared again.

Alan's last secret doubt about these bandits being utter strangers in the country was dispelled now. He had had a clear view of this huge red-bearded leader; he could say positively, as Ashmun and all the passengers had sworn, that he had never laid eyes on the man before.

To Bill he whispered: "When we reach that last house, I'll speak to do something to draw their attention. They'll come out to the flags edge again to see what it is. Don't shoot when just one man shows up. We'll wait till we have three of them in plain sight. If we get three of them at the first crack, we'll be fighting the other three on even terms. Now, Bill, when you're looking down a rifle barrel at those men, don't hesitate. Aim straight. We can't make prisoners of that outfit. This is a finish fight. One or the other party is going to get wiped out."

They started for the fourth muskrat house.

New Airplane Nearly Ready For Delivery

Prince of Wales' Machine Will Carry Twelve Passengers

The Prince of Wales' new aeroplane, a powerful twin-engined high performance monoplane, is expected to be ready for flight early this year. The prince's private aerodrome at Smith's Lawn, in Windsor Great Park, has no hangar accommodation for a machine of this size, and, together with the light aeroplane which the prince has used for the last year or so, it will be housed at Hendon aerodrome.

Like the prince's other aeroplanes, the new machine will be finished in scarlet and blue, making it easily recognizable in the air. Normally the big saloon cabin will be furnished with the transport of not more than six passengers, though there is room for 12 if necessary.

This means that the prince will be able to travel with all of his luggage and members of his entourage in the same aeroplane, eliminating the need for his personal staff to fly in other craft when urgency goes with the prince's own partiality for air travel to oblige use of the air way. The pilot's cockpit forward will be equipped with full dual control, and the prince, one of the world's keenest private aeroplane owners and a good pilot himself, may confidently be expected to spend much of his time aloft in one of the pilot's seats.

Men and Machines

More Figures Which Show Great Difference In Production

In ancient Rome, it took one shoemaker 5 1/2 days to make a pair of shoes. Today, in a modern shoe factory, one man produces in the same time 32 pairs of shoes.

Twenty years ago a brick-maker produced in a 10-hour day, not more than 450 bricks. One man today, working in a brick factory, can produce 400,000 bricks.

A century ago one man produced 25 tons of pig iron a year, and 800 tons of iron ore. In 1929 in the Mesabi range of Minnesota, the production of iron ore per man per year was 20,000 tons.

One man today produces more electric light globes in an hour than one man could produce in 9,000 hours in 1914. To four days, one man tending one machine could supply the entire Canadian import of electric light globes.

One hundred men, working in a modern brick factory, could supply all the bricks needed in the United States. No other brick factories, no other men to make bricks, would be necessary.

A modern steel rolling mill in full operation runs with almost no continuous attention, and requires only a handful of men.

Lord Nelson Saved Town

Displayed Courage and Foresight

When Battleship Caught Fire
E. E. Long, writing in a recent issue of a magazine recalls an incident in connection with Montserrat Bay, Jamaica, showing the presence of mind of Lord Nelson, and how his prompt action saved a disaster. He says:

"In Nelson's day, vessels of the British Navy often visited Montserrat Bay, and it was here, on one occasion, that Nelson went ashore on a visit and saw from the verandah of a house, which still exists, that one of the men-of-war in the harbor was on fire. Rushing down to the pier he put off in a boat, got to the burning vessel, boarded her and had all her guns, which were trained directly on the town pointed upwards. A few minutes later she blew up and the cannon were discharged. Nelson's courage and foresight had saved Montserrat Bay."

U.S. Unemployment

Estimated That 11,590,000 Were Out Of Work In November

An "all-time peak" of unemployment in the United States was reported recently by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who estimated that 11,590,000 were out of work in November.

Noting that this figure was greater by 130,000 than the previous high mark, reported for August, he added that word from affiliated trade unions indicated the total for early December was even greater than that for the previous month.

Little Helps For This Week

"When He giveth quietness, who then can make trouble."—Job 34: 29.
"None of these things move me."—Acts 20: 24.

I've many a cross to take up now, And many a left behind; But present troubles move me not, Nor shake my quiet mind. And what may be tomorrow's cross I never seek to find; My Father says "Leave that to me, And keep a quiet mind."—Anon.

Let us then think only of the present, and not even permit our mind to wander with curiosity into the future. This future is not yet ours; perhaps it never will be. It is exposing ourselves to temptation to wish to anticipate God, and to prepare ourselves for things which He may not desire for us. If such things come to pass, He will give us light and strength according to our need. Why should we desire to meet difficulties prematurely, when we have neither strength or light as yet provided for them. Let us give heed to the present, whose duties are pressing. It is fidelity to the present which prepares us for fidelity in the future.—Fenelon.

King's Lands Profitable To British Taxpayers

Over Million Pounds Handed Back Yearly In Revenues

The Crown of Britain is the cheapest monarchy in the world.

The taxpayers actually make a profit of £740,000 out of the financial relations between the king and the state, for, though the king draws a nominal salary of £470,000, he voluntarily relinquishes every year £1,210,000 in revenues from the crown lands.

The king's real salary is £110,000 a year. The rest of the civil list total is earmarked for salaries, expenses, and upkeep of the royal households and palaces; £13,200 is spent every year on royal bounty and alms, apart from personal donations of the king and queen.

Only two of the royal residences, Sandringham and Balmoral, are the king's private property. They were bequeathed to him by King Edward.

NATIONAL MUSEUM DEPARTMENT OF MINES, OTTAWA, ONTARIO

The announcement by the National Museum of Canada of the publication of a book on methods of collecting and preserving mammals, birds, fishes and other animals, will be received with particular interest by amateur collectors, trappers and others. Many excellent specimens have been spoiled, no doubt, in the past, due to a lack of knowledge of methods of collecting, skinning and preserving specimens, and this book will fill a need for reliable information that has existed in the past.

It has been prepared by Dr. R. M. Anderson, Chief of the Biological Division, of the National Museum and is written in popular style with a view to aiding the amateur or prospective collector, whose experience has already provided him with this information.

The first chapter is devoted to the general principles of zoological collecting. Dr. Anderson states that the progress in the study of mammals may be judged by the fact that only about 150 species were known in North America 100 years ago, whereas the latest check-list gives 2,555 forms inhabiting North America.

Over 500 species and subspecies are known now to occur in Canada. This does not mean, however, that knowledge of these species is complete, or that there is little hope of finding new species, as the records of range, economic value and life history, are being continually added to. Some of the small mammals are so secretive, and so very local in their habits, that they may even elude for a long time the observation of a close student of natural history. For this reason, according to Dr. Anderson, there is a chance to discover new forms of species, and as so few districts have been studied thoroughly, there is an opportunity to obtain new records almost anywhere.

The National Museum is the legitimate repository for zoological and ornithological specimens, which are not desired by hunters as personal trophies, and such acquisitions will be kept safely, the records preserved, and the specimens made available for educational purposes.

In a clear-cut and informative way, but free from unnecessary details, the book gives information about the care of specimens in the field, tools and supplies required in collecting, preservatives, fumigation, cleaning materials, and types of collecting cases.

The second chapter deals with methods of collecting mammals by shooting, trapping and catching them alive. The use of poisons is not recommended, except to control injurious rodents. Chapter four gives an account of proper methods of skinning both large and small mammals. Speed and efficiency in technique can be gained through experience and knowing what to do. Dr. Anderson emphasizes, and quoting from his own experience he states that he spent two or three hours skinning his first sheep on a mountain side at 25 degrees below zero, freezing several knuckle joints in the operation, but after some experience shot, skinned and cut up the meat of a caribou ready for loading on a sled, in twenty-five minutes, at 30 degrees below zero.

The general principles of bird collecting are dealt with in the following chapter. Less Criticism; More Co-Operation Within a few days Parliament will re-assemble at Ottawa after a long Christmas and New Year adjournment, and almost simultaneously the Legislatures of all the Western Provinces will meet in annual session. In view of conditions at present prevailing, people will manifest a deeper interest in the proceedings of their elected representatives than is usually the case. When times are prosperous and everybody busy, people are inclined to take their Parliament and Legislatures very much for granted, but with the times temporarily out of joint, people not only take a greater interest in public affairs, but adopt a more critical attitude.

At the very time this more critical attitude develops, and when many people are inclined to demand and expect the impossible of their public men, the very conditions which develop this attitude of mind also create problems extremely difficult of solution, notwithstanding the best intentions and keenest desire on the part of members of Parliament and Legislatures to sincerely grapple with and solve them. In their impatience for definite and immediate results, many people adopt a most unjust attitude towards those in whom the nation has reposed its confidence and who, like the masses of the people, are anxious to do the best they can to overcome existing difficulties and right existing wrongs.

True, public men differ in their views as to what should be done, but in this they merely reflect the general public, and in these times it is almost impossible to find any two neighbors actually agreeing upon policies and methods that should be adopted. True too, public men in their endeavor to find solutions make mistakes, but in this they are not one whit different from the average man who today may be vigorously criticizing and condemning legislators for their mistakes. Because of the very magnitude and complexity of the problems now confronting the country, and many of which cannot be solved by any one Province or nation, but only through united action by all nations, men occupying representative and responsible positions are deserving of sympathy, consideration, co-operation and support.

When Parliament meets it will have the Duff Commission report on the railway problem to deal with. In striving to reach a solution of this large and intricate problem, some things will, no doubt, have to be done which will not be pleasing to this interest, or class, or community. Any solution will involve inconveniences and sacrifices, and if each such interest, class or community adopts a purely selfish attitude and emphasizes its own particular rights and privileges to the extent of ignoring the benefits to be conferred upon the whole country, then there will be little hope of any solution being reached.

At this time, as was the case during the war, individuals and committees must take the broader viewpoint of the welfare of the whole country. Our Parliamentary representatives must approach the problem from that standpoint, rather than from the standpoint of their individual constituency. And this general statement of policy is likewise applicable to other large issues which now face Parliament. None of them can be decided upon local or provincial viewpoints; they must be dealt with as national problems. If people generally will keep this idea firmly fixed in their minds there will be less tendency to indulge in criticism, and the finding of solutions made much easier.

In our Western Legislatures major questions that will call for consideration and action include the drafting and passage of wise and effective legislation dealing with such matters as adjustment of debts, arrears of taxes, balancing budgets, measures to alleviate unemployment, and to provide adequate relief where needed, while at the same time not further increasing the burden of taxation already almost beyond the ability of the people to carry. To these matters our legislators, irrespective of party affiliations, may, we believe, be trusted to bring their best judgment to bear in really sincere efforts to find the very best policies and put them into effect.

Irrespective of what is done, or not done, there will, of course, be some dissatisfied people. Possibly, everybody will be more or less dissatisfied. Where one approves of what is done, others will disapprove, while in regard to something else those who first approved will disapprove, and those who disapproved will approve. It is ever so in a democracy, but it is out of this conflict of views and opinions that compromises emerge, and it is only through compromise that democratic representative government can be carried on. It is always the average view that must prevail for the average good, not the extremist views either of the right or the left.

The thought we wish to emphasize and leave with our readers is, that the responsibility for successfully "carrying on" and "carrying through" these troublesome times does not rest solely upon members of Parliament and Legislatures. It rests equally upon the individual citizen. Instead of adopting a whole critical attitude, a fault-finding attitude, the individual citizen should extend friendly advice and assistance to his elected representative, and should co-operate with him in the common endeavor to work out what is practical and best for all, whether it is everything such citizen favors and desires or not. Only so can the best results be achieved in times of stress and difficulty like the present. Only so, in fact, can a measure of wise legislation, and co-operation should be the order of the day. And it should be exercised fully and completely by the individual citizen who is expressing such action by his elected representatives in Parliament and Legislature and municipal council.

Scheme To Aid Fishermen

Was So Short of Breath Could Not Lie Down to Sleep

Mrs. P. J. Chernoff, Broomfield, B.C., writes: "I had been so troubled with shortness of breath I could not lie down to sleep."

I couldn't do any hard work, or climb the stairs, and had nervous and smothering feelings, and became very weak.

I tried all kinds of medicine, but could get no relief until after I had taken three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and since then I have felt better in every way.

Looking Into the Future

Dean Inge Draws Another Glimpse Picture

Dean Inge drew a picture of England 1,000 years hence when speaking in London recently. He considered that by that time England would have a population of only 20,000,000—about half the present population—and that they would live mainly in villages.

"Physicists and astronomers tell us there is no reason why this planet should not be habitable by human beings a million years hence, but whether the human beings will be at all like us and recognizable as men is very difficult to say," he said.

"London may be a hundred feet under water 30,000 years hence, and another ice-age is due at some period which may make these islands uninhabitable."

"I do not think it is at all possible that we shall ever colonize Mars and Venus or that we shall ever be devoured by a dinosaur. Besides, there is the impossibility of ever getting there."

The Dean said that our race had not intrinsically made any progress since the discovery of tools. Skulls of 40,000 years ago which had been found seemed to have brains as good as our own.

The changes going on were for the most part degenerative. Our jaws were getting narrower. We were becoming balder.

Possibly our sight and hearing were not so good as those of the savages.

Our sense of smell was less keen, and we were losing our claws and fur.

ARM NUMB WITH RHEUMATISM

Woman's Thanks to Kruschen

"I have been suffering from rheumatism for years. At one time I could scarcely walk with pains in my feet. The thumb of my left hand was so stiff I could only bend it with the aid of the right hand. I was afraid to go to bed, as my right hand and arm were so stiff I could not get into bed and the pain was just terrible until I got the circulation going again. I started to take a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast, and believe me I feel a different woman. I tell everyone what I take, and the good it has done me." (Mrs.) W.A.B.

Kruschen contains six mineral salts which tone up the liver, kidneys and stomach—and keep them working smoothly and efficiently. The reward of this internal cleanliness is a freshened and invigorated blood-stream. Poisonous uric acid is expelled through the kidneys, and the pains of rheumatism cease. And as you continue with Kruschen, your feet, the body of the brain—responds to its purifying force.

Armament Expenditures

United States Appears To Be the Most Culpable in This Respect

The insistence by spokesmen of the United States, official and unofficial—President Hoover, Mr. Stimson, Senator Borah and apparently three out of four newspapers in the country—that the debtor nations must reduce their outlays on armaments before they can talk revision of debts with the United States, has drawn the retort from the Paris press that the greatest sinner in the way of outlays on armaments is the United States itself. "Le Temps" gives these comparative figures:

The President of the United States insists that what he believes is a formidable increase in military expenditure constitutes one of the most important factors in the world-wide disequilibrium of national credits and on monetary matters. But no country in the world has increased its military expenditure to the same proportion as the United States have increased theirs, even though their country is not exposed to any danger and only pre-occupation has been to obtain naval parity with Great Britain.

"In 1916 the whole military and naval expenditure of the United States was $267,000,000. In 1930, according to figures communicated by Washington to Geneva, the total figure had reached $700,000,000."

Return To Barter

Balkans Are Considering Swine As Medium For Exchange

Cash money has become so scarce in Central European countries that a return to barter, with swine the medium of exchange has been inaugurated and may be extended in parts of the Balkans.

At Kragujevac, in Yugoslavia, the authorities have contracted with an Austrian firm for 100 carloads of brass parts needed in the arsenal there. The cost is to be paid by delivery in Austria of 10,000 Yugoslavian hogs.

Meantime negotiations are under way between the National Railways of Czechoslovakia and Hungary. Under the present arrangement each line receives payment for mileage on its tracks by half the other line. The monthly balance due Czechoslovakia from Hungary is running about 1,000,000 Czech crowns a month. Hungary cannot conveniently cover the amount in cash and has offered to settle monthly with Hungarian pigs.

Waging War On Rats

Britain has started a war on its 40,000,000 rats. The campaign was launched in Rat Week, and is being pursued vigorously in parts of the counties. Slackness in destroying rodents by half the local authorities has threatened to nullify the efforts of the other half, according to a Ministry of Agriculture official, but steadiest concerted action is expected to bring some success.

Beautiful Cape Town

South African City Has a Noble Setting and Wonderful Climate

It may be truthfully be said that few places in the world compare with Cape Peninsula, South Africa, either in scenery, climate, verdure, woods, water, salubrity, or association.

Table Mountain, upon which Cape Town rests its shoulders while its feet dangle in Table Bay, throws its ever-changing shadows upon a land of trees, flowers, odoriferous plants, oak groves, pine woods, beautiful hills and arm-lilled valleys.

In all the world there is, perhaps, no city so absolutely beautifully located as Cape Town. A nobler site for a city could hardly be imagined. It rivals Gibraltar and Constantinople, Bombay and San Francisco. Immediately behind the town, which lies along the sea, the majestic mass of Table Mountain rises to a height of 3,600 feet, a steep slope capped by a long line of sheer precipices more than 1,000 feet high, and to the right and left by bold, isolated peaks. The beautiful sweep of the bay in front, the towering crags behind, and the romantic pinnacles which rise on either side make a landscape of unsurpassed grandeur.

Each one enjoys a most equable climate. There is a wealth of sunshine at all seasons of the year. The breeze blowing fresh from the sea tempers the rays of the African sun.

Passengers on the "Carinthia" cruise around the world via the South Atlantic will reach Cape Town on the 18th of next April. Visitors will be amazed at the vast variety of orchids that grow wild all the way from the outskirts of Cape Town to the tops of Table Mountain.

Some people may be content with the view of the mountains and the gorgeous display of flowers offered for sale in the attractive booths on Adderley Street, but to properly appreciate the exquisite beauty of the Peninsula flowers they should be seen growing in their natural habitats.

One of the strange flowers found is the parasitic "Harveya," whose delicate blooms turn black if handled. Another is the "sundew" whose leaves are covered with sticky glandular hairs for catching insects, on which it seems to feed.

Cape Town is in the same latitude as Montevideo, Uruguay, and Sydney, Australia.

Find Fossil Bed In West

Evidence Of Prehistoric Age Discovers Near Swift Current

"Discovery of a new locality for fossil mammals in Canada is announced by Dr. L. S. Russell and Dr. R. T. D. Wickenham of the geological survey, Department of Mines, Ottawa.

Working in the vicinity of Swift Current, Sask., these two government paleontologists obtained a small collection of fossil teeth, which proved to represent animals of lateocene times, not previously found in Canada. Such fossils have been found in Utah, and have been more recently discovered in southern California.

The Saskatchewan collection includes the tooth of a rhinoceros, of little others (large, horn-bearing beasts), of a three-toed horse, primitive antelope-like creatures, and a forerunner of the squirrels. Most interesting is a single rabbit tooth, one of the oldest known records of such animals.

Toy Industry Revived

Yo-Yo has caught on in Germany and has saved the toy industry of Nuremberg. Once the great centre of German toy makers who supplied most of the world, the city has had thin times for 20 years. With new "taut" discouraging toy exports the Nuremberg makers expected a hard winter. Then yo-yo entered the country, and now Nuremberg plants are busy making the playthings.

PREFERENCE HIS UNITED STATES GRAIN INTERESTS

Washington.—Grain exporters and shippers of United States in conference here have formed a technical committee. Its duties are chiefly to try to solve difficulties presented by the United Kingdom's decision to grant the six cents per bushel empire preference on Canadian grain only when it is shipped via an all-Canadian route. It affects 100,000,000 bushels of wheat annually.

With the ruling in effect Canadian growers ship through Montreal, Vancouver, Saint John and Halifax. This affords a hand-bid route to New York, Albany, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and other United States shipping centres, it is claimed. With United States railroad, elevator, shipping and exporting interests entering protests against the ruling the state department here arranged for a conference at which representatives of these organizations conferred with the government officials.

Prior to the conference the British embassy despatched a note to the state department which, according to the Journal of Commerce, was conciliatory in tone and expressed hope the 1919 agreement upon which the grain ruling was based could be met by United States interests.

To Lessen Bandit Hazard

Oklahoma Banks Close Doors During Noon Hour

Oklahoma City.—In an effort to lessen the hazard from bandits, more than 100 banks in Oklahoma now are closing during the noon hour, thus lowering no one in the bank during this period.

The Oklahoma Bankers' Association is asking all banks, except those in the larger cities, to adopt this rule. The hazard from bandits is greatest during those hours when bank employees are out of the bank and few persons are on the street, an examination of records shows. Strict enforcement of the "no admittance" rule outside banking hours lessens this hazard.

Professor Picard Arrives

Has Hopes Of Arousing Interest In His Super Balloon

New York.—Professor Auguste Picard has arrived from Europe with hopes of arousing interest in a "super balloon" flight to 10 miles altitude in northern Canada, and with decided notions about the use of tobacco.

The scientist's first act, as his boat neared its destination, was to request interviewers not to smoke and to announce that if he had the powers of a dictator he would prohibit the use of tobacco rather than alcohol.

Home Rule For Scotland

Question Is Revived As a Campaign Issue

East Fife, Scotland.—The question of home rule for Scotland has been prominent in the campaigning for the by-election to the House of Commons from this constituency due here shortly.

Lord Dalziel, former member of parliament and newspaper proprietor, is among the supporters of Eric Linklater, the Scottish Nationalist candidate who is urging the home rule for Scotland.

Would Grant Pension

Washington.—A pension of $5,000 yearly for Grace Goodhue Coolidge, widow of the late former president of the United States, was sought in a bill introduced by Senator Warren H. Austin, Vermont Republican. Congress usually votes pensions to the widows of former presidents.

Alberta Seed Growers

Edmonton, Alberta.—Joseph H. B. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, was elected president of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association recently at the directors' annual meeting. Mahon Watson, of Provost, was chosen vice-president.

Ensure Dollar Wheat

Montreal, Que.—Dutch farmers get $1 a bushel for their wheat, according to P. Stius, Dutch seed merchant, who is here on business. The government provides a subsidy to bring the price up to this amount.

Property Owner Not Protected

Debt Adjustment Act Provides Only For Present Occupant

Saskatoon, Sask.—"While governments are giving protection to persons in possession of property, and who are living therein, under the terms of the Debt Adjustment Act, which have been purchased on agreements of sale, or for which a second mortgage has been taken, no consideration has been given to the original owner who sold the house and who is relying on principal and interest payments to meet obligations incurred in the creation of the property," states David C. Kyle, Saskatoon barrister.

"Many people who have invested their life savings in such properties are now facing the threat of loss of their equity, as the concessions made the occupant owner by the Debt Adjustment commission has curtailed the revenue from the property to the original owner to such a low mark that he is unable to meet interest, principal and other charges against the property."

Criticizes Board

Charges That Land Board Of University Had Loose System

Winnipeg, Man.—Charges that for 10 years the methods of the land board had the "loosest imaginable system of directing the investments of the University of Manitoba," which was its statutory duty, were made before a board of inquiry by J. T. Thomson, K.C., in summing up his evidence regarding the $1,000,000 deficit in University of Manitoba funds.

Mr. Thomson, associate counsel for the commission inquiring into the shortages, said no member of the board ever asserted his authority to direct the investments which, he said, was a "most astonishing situation." No member of the board, he said, ever went to the board of governors to find out what authority the land board had.

Entry From New Zealand

First Received From That Country For Grain Show Competition

Regina, Sask.—First entry from New Zealand to the competitive classes of the World's Grain Show has reached the office of the organization. It came from the Gull, a farmer of Otago, Southland, New Zealand, in the oats class.

A few days ago 12 entries came from T. A. Allan, a farmer of Meridian, Idaho, his entries being as follows: four wheat classes, four barley classes, two millets, oats, one dent corn and one rye.

Closing dates for entries is January 31 and closing date for receipt of grain samples is March 31.

South African Politics

General Smuts In Favor Of Coalition Government

Cape Town, South Africa.—Tension in South Africa's political situation was augmented when General Jan Christian Smuts, leader of the South African party, arrived here to confer with his colleagues regarding negotiation to overthrow the government.

In a brief interview the general indicated his willingness to accept a subordinate post in a coalition government if it appeared in the best interests of the nation.

Brisk Trade With China

Vancouver, B.C.—The one ship per month which the British Canadian Steamship Company had estimated to take care of the subsidized Canada-China lumber trade has proved inadequate and four steamers will take about 12,000,000 feet to the Orient within the next six weeks. The same ships will also take 9,000 tons of wheat and 1,100 tons of salt fish.

Gas Conservation Plans

Calgary.—Temporary withdrawal of motions questioning legality of public hearings of the Turner Valley gas conservation board was effected until January 23 and the way left open for the board to further its studies with a view to conserving gas for domestic use in southern Alberta cities and towns.

Visiting Western Canada

Ottawa, Ont.—Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of the Dominion Experimental Farm, is in western Canada, where he will spend a few days visiting the various experimental farm stations in the west. While there he will attend an executive meeting of the board of directors of the World Grain Fair at Regina.

Want Uniform Relief Policy

Alberta Federation Of Laborers Concludes Sessions

Calgary, Alberta.—Establishment immediately of a uniform relief policy by the Alberta Government was sought by the Alberta Federation of Labor in concluding its annual convention here.

Alderman Fred J. White, M.L.A., Calgary, was re-elected president for an eighth term, and Carl E. Berg, Edmonton, was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton, who was elected president of the Alberta section, Canadian Labor Party, at its gathering preceding the federation's convention.

Allegations of wide variation in relief policies and administration throughout the province were made during the debate on the relief question. In urging a uniform policy for cities, towns and country, the delegates asked the maximum aid now granted become the minimum, and, where necessary, increased assistance be given destitute.

JAPANESE SEEK CONTROL OF JEHOI PROVINCES

Shanghai, China.—Ten thousand Japanese soldiers are marching into the province of Jehoi, Chinese press despatches said today, and are en route to Lingyuan, which is about 90 miles north of Shanhaiwan, the city at the eastern end of the Great Wall, occupied last week by the Japanese.

The despatches also said a Japanese landing force had gone ashore at Chingwantao, Chinese seaport about 10 miles southwest of Shanhaiwan. Patrols have been put out by the landing force, it was reported.

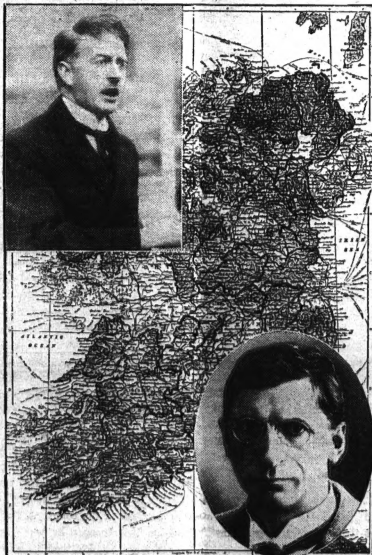

The column proceeding into Jehoi, the despatches asserted, included artillery and cavalry marching from Suichung, north of Shanhaiwan, which is in Japanese hands.

Japanese military leaders have said for some time that they intended eventually to gain control of the province of Jehoi and to annex it to the state of Manchukuo which has been established, with their assistance, to administer Manchuria.

The city of Jehoi, capital of the province, used to be used by the Manchukuo emperors as their summer residence.

The National Government at Nanking has reiterated that it will not accept the Japanese thesis that the capture of Shanhaiwan is a local incident. Instead, the Chinese policy will be that the occupation of that city is part of the whole Chinese-Japanese dispute which is awaiting settlement by the League of Nations.

SCENE OF THE LATEST POLITICAL BATTLE

The whole of the Irish Free State is seething with the excitement of a General Election, an election, which came a little earlier than was expected. Ex-President Cosgrave is fighting for power with promises that he will enter into friendly relations with the Mother Country and "in three days" will procure for the farmers who have been hard hit by Britain's tariff. Eamon de Valera (lower right) maintains his stand on the annuities payments to Britain and is determined to make the Free State economically independent of the rest of the British Isles. He is waging a bitter campaign against the Cosgrave Party, whom he claims, is in collusion with the British Government.

URGES DOLLAR-FOUND PARITY

The Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, Minister of Lands and Mines in the New Brunswick cabinet, in a speech urged the establishment of the Canadian dollar on a parity with the British pound, with a view to revitalizing Canadian industry.

Geneva Conference

Forty-Hour Working Week Is Advocated By Delegate

Geneva, Switzerland.—The question of the maintenance of wages at their present level or reducing them arose as a crucial issue at a discussion of a proposal for a 40-hour working week before the international conference on unemployment.

Leon Jouhaux, general secretary of the French confederation of labor, declared that working hours must be reduced without any wage cuts.

M. Jouhaux told the conference that unless the world unemployment situation is relieved civilization may be destroyed. Thirty million men and women—one-sixth of the world's workers—are jobless, he said, and even a revival of industry would not provide a remedy, for technological unemployment would remain a tremendous factor.

Concessions To Peasants

Russia May Decide To Abolish Grain Concessions

Moscow, Russia.—A long-expected concession to the peasantry in the effort to extract from that class enough agricultural produce to feed the country assumed definite form in the publication of a speech by Vyacheslav Molotov.

The president of the union council of the people's commissars announced that the government probably would abolish "collections" of grain and substitute a grain "tax" in kind. Returning to a system in effect 10 years ago, the grain production of the country would hereafter be placed on the recently instituted basis for meat and butter production.

Pension Act

Veterans Claim Something Wrong With the Way Act Is Operating

Ottawa, Ont.—An impressive array of veterans, each well equipped with experience in the intricate solution of pensioners' problems, appeared before the joint committee investigating the administration of the Pension Act, and told that body what they considered to be wrong with the way the act was operating.

Practically all witnesses were unanimous in their disapproval of the attitude toward returned soldiers of the counsel employed by the board of pension commissioners.

"Sometimes," said A. E. Moore of Winnipeg, chairman of the Dominion executive council of the Canadian Legion, "I listen to these counsel and expect every moment to hear them turn to the tribunal with the words: 'I therefore submit that this man be taken from hence and hanged by the neck until he is dead.'"

Witnesses argued that section 73 of the Pension Act, known as the "benefit of the doubt" clause, was not being applied in accordance with the intention of parliament and of the people of Canada.

It was impossible, so many years after the close of hostilities, Mr. Moore declared, for a man to establish definitely the circumstances and the place responsible for inflicting upon him the state of health that eventually resulted in a disability. The onus of proving conclusively that the man's disability was not due to war service should rest with the board.

Russia Executing Thieves

Men Sentenced For Stealing Jam From Government Warehouse

Moscow, Russia.—Four men were sentenced to death and three others to 10 years in prison for stealing jam from a government warehouse. The manager of the warehouse and three employees are to be shot, three other employees will go to a prison camp in the most remote region of the country, and two others must spend three years in jail for the crime, which was characterized as "causing great harm to the workers' supply."

CENTRAL PARTY OPPOSE POLICY OF DE VALERA

Dublin, Irish Free State.—The Central party in the Irish Free State election campaign issued a manifesto indicating it intends to secure, if possible, the balance of power in the new parliament which the Laborites held in the old.

Frank McDermott, leader of the Centralist group, which has the support of the National Farmers' League and the Ratepayers' League, said in the manifesto his party was not going to be "captured" by the National party, nor allow policies to "drift back into the same old rut."

At the same time the pronouncement denounced President Eamon de Valera and his Republicans and said the Centralists would see "long delayed justice" given the agricultural community.

The party, it said, would do its best to see increasing war waged against poverty and intolerance, "Two deadly enemies of a kindly, self-reliant Irish nation."

What success the Centralists would have at the polls on January 24 was uncertain, but they appeared to have aroused considerable friendship among the farmers of the nation.

Nominations, which closed tonight, showed the Centralists with 21 candidates in the field while the Laborites had placed 22.

Spanish Riots

Estimated That 42 Persons Have Been Killed

Madrid, Spain.—Outbreak of anarchist and syndicalist violence, which began recently, continued in many Spanish cities, although governmental authorities declared their belief that the disturbances had definitely been quelled.

It was estimated at least 42 persons have been killed during the disturbances which have been marked by frequent bomb explosions, seizure by extremists of public buildings and documents, and efforts to disrupt communications.

The number of persons injured has not been officially estimated, but it is thought the toll will reach far above 100. Numerous persons have been arrested.

BOTANISTS ARE WINNING BATTLE AGAINST RUST

Toronto, Ont.—Botanists are winning the battle with rust disease, menace of western Canada's grain crops, Dr. Margaret Newton, plant disease expert of the Dominion research laboratory at Winnipeg reported at a conference here.

While it was formerly thought that each of the stem rust diseases attacked each kind of grain in a different way, Dr. Newton said it now was seen that similarities are apparent between many of these diseases. When it becomes possible to control one of them, she said, the others will soon be brought under subjection.

It had been discovered, said Dr. Newton, that the fastest-growing part of the leaves or stalk of wheat is the easiest prey to the invading rust. She described how the seedling spores of the mould get a foothold on the susceptible wheat and the disease thus seems associated with the factors which make for fast growth, she added.

The second development in investigation of the disease revealed that stem or barley rust that wheat also attack cause. This was found from laboratory experiments, Dr. Newton said, and added this cross-infection has not been reported under field conditions. The findings mean that the parasites are not as specialized as had been supposed, said Dr. Newton.

May Use Scrip Money

City Of St. Paul Is Investigating

St. Paul, Minn.—Issuance of scrip money by the city and county for relief of unemployment has been approved by the city council, which also ordered an investigation of the plan's legality.

Under the proposal of Mayor William Mahoney, the certificates would be issued against $100,000 reserve fund to be set up by the board of public welfare. They would be used to pay workers on projects inaugurated to provide jobs for the unemployed.

To each $1 certificate would be added weekly by the holder. At the end of the year the certificate with $1.04 in stamps attached, would be redeemed by the welfare board for $1 in currency.

told you you were a very healthy man," said the doctor after examina-just a friendly visit," said the patient reaching for his hat.

The members of the Y.P. of the Blairmore United church journeyed to last, where they took the affirmative side of a debate, the subject being:

"resolved that education in the use of leisure time is a greater factor than any other in immediately solving the problems arising out of unemployment," in which Blairmore was defeated. Messrs. L. McDonald and F. Hottle were the speakers for

In giving a brief review of civic affairs at the organization meeting of the new Red Deer Council, Com-

it had at one time been the custom of the Red Deer council to get together and pass a bylaw authorizing the borrowing of $80,000 to carry the city over until tax collections could be made. This year the city starts off with a bank balance on hand of $13,000 and there would be no borrowing.

Artiss is the dominating feature.
His delivery of lines is perfect in the Artissian manner. He runs the gamut of human emotion with ease and equal skill in performance. He is superb as a dramatist, delightful as a comedian. He is marvelous in his ability to transpose reality to the screen. In short, "A Successful Calamity," now showing at the Orpheum, is the expected and perfect Artiss entertainment, representing the highest type of human drama the screen can offer.

Thomas Murphy, secretary of the National Unemployed Workers' association, has been ordered deported to England whence he came, for his activity in fomenting trouble in several sections of the country. Murphy had an idea because he was born under the British flag that he was a Canadian, but it took the immigration department only a short time to change his mind. Being born under the British flag is one thing and being born a Canadian is another, a fact Murphy failed to recognize. There are a number of his kind operating in and around Cranbrook, who need a taste of the same medicine.—Ex.
